

Hi there,

I'm a young Australian who is very concerned about potential plans to wind back marine protections around Australia.

This is incredibly irresponsible when all leading conservation biologists, climatologists, biologists, ecologists, marine biologists and any other relevant scientific profession is advocating for MORE not LESS oceanic protection.

The ocean's house a key and giant ecosystem upon which all lives depends, notably 20% of all humans on Earth.

Please make a decision which reflect long term social, environmental and sustainable dreams of upcoming generations, not narrow-minded and economic interested of corporations.

I am a Masters of Environment and Sustainability student and this is a key interest of mine. I will be voting on this issue.
