

Save our Marine Parks PLEASE.

We need more areas protected, not less.

We are going backwards as a nation and soon we'll be a third world country. Is the government of Australia really this dimwitted as to not see the long term value in conserving our oceans? Ecosystems are extremely complex and I doubt even the experts fully understand the implications of changing the diversity through overfishing and pollution. It's too late to think about the environment once it's destroyed – we'll all be dead...unless you have a place on the one way Mars flight?
