

Dear Sir

I am concerned that the oceans and all that live in them are not being given the chance to renew themselves. For this reason I want the protective parks reinstated so that some of the sea creatures have a chance to reproduce and the young have a chance to develop.

Humans rely on fish and sea life for food and recreation and we need to ensure that the oceans are kept in good condition to fight global warming. Considering the vast amount to coastline that Australia enjoys, it is a small area for the marine parks.

I trust that your committee will see the benefits of the marine parks and make decisions to extend them too.

Yours faithfully

Felicity Crombach.
