

As someone who spends hours a week in and on the ocean around Western Australia i see the immense difference that marine parks make to the populations of fish both within their boundaries but also adjoining them. To remove areas from protection in this time of dwindling stocks of All living things except humans is unconscionable. I voted against the Barnett government at the last election and will vote against the federal government at the next election if it doesn't start considering our environment as our most precious asset. Wake up !!
