

To whom it may concern

Dear sir / madam

I am very concerned to hear that the federal government is considering reducing the conservation areas covered by our marine national parks.

I would like to voice my strongest objections to this proposal . I'm astounded that in light of current awareness of the marine environment that

Reduction in conservation areas could even be considered.

Scientific research has shown our marine environment is already at the tipping point of exploitation, this is more important than jobs or commercial gain.

Marine national parks are there for life, please do not underestimate these wonderful assets.

Kind Regards

David Taskas.
