

Hello

Having lived in Australia and visited and even got married in Australia on Ningaloo reef i appreciate that your country has the most diverse wildlife in the world.

I have swam with your whale-sharks manta rays turtles to name a few .I have been lucky enough to see so much in your oceans and on shore.

I cannot beleave that Australia could be so stupid to try and jump on the band wagon of other countrys and destroy everything that is so treasured for what money.

Australia has always prided it self on its land and when ever you speak to people about Australia they talk about the oceans and the wildlife thats what brings tourist to your country .

Have you ever enjoyed the thrill of swimming with whalesharks watch dolphins mate see migrating whales play with manta rays watch fish balls or octopus.

If you dont stop destroying your country it will end up like the rain forest .

I expected third world countrys to do it who dont have the knowledge or the money but recently your country is going to far.

When everthing has gone that was so important to your country all the money in the world wont get it back

I feel for your country and i have been compaging for 14 years even though i live in the UK BECAUSE I UNDERSTAND

Chrissy
