

To the current federal government,

Please do not reduce the amount of Australian ocean that is being protected. This is a short-term view to help some fishing companies make more money - but in the long term, their ocean will be affected as well as there will be less good quality ocean to take their boats. Imagine your children at school in the future, learning that politicians in 2017 decided they did not want to safeguard the safety of Australian marine parks. This will not sit well on your conscience.

Regards
Steph McDonald