

Hello,

I would like to speak up for retaining all the marine national parks which allow no fishing. These areas are valuable for tourism, bringing in huge money to the economy. Many are important dive sites. Also, they are very important for allowing fish stocks to regenerate. Without areas like this, we will overfish, making some food species extinct.

Regards,
Jan Mitchell